Supporting Physiology Educators through Professional Development and Practical Resources

What is the Center for Physiology Education?
The purpose of the American Physiological Society (APS) Center for Physiology Education is to leverage the expertise of the APS community to nurture and promote excellence in the teaching and learning of physiology. We do this by:

- cultivating a vibrant and inclusive community of physiology educators,
- fostering a shared vision of physiology education,
- providing exceptional curricular, pedagogical and career development resources,
- supporting the equitable advancement of physiology educators, and
- raising the profile of physiology as a discipline.

Founding Gift Opportunities
You may support the launch of the Center and APS’ mission to provide physiology educators at all levels with access to teaching resources and a community with which to exchange best practices through gifts pledged and fulfilled through modest annual payments. Please note the below listed benefits will only be provided for pledges submitted within 12 months of the Center’s opening. Below are multiple gift options to provide financial flexibility for those interested in expressing their commitment to physiology and the educators who drive the field forward.

Visionary Level | $25,000
- Visionary Video Profile—a video interview featuring major donors discussing the importance of physiology education
- Profiles will be hosted on the Center’s webpage and included in communications
- Named digital plaque on the Center’s webpage
- Invitation to the APS President’s Reception at the Society’s annual meeting
- Recognition through The Physiologist Magazine and APS social media channels
- APS polo shirt

Leader Level | $10,000
- Named digital plaque on the Center’s webpage
- Invitation to the APS President’s Reception at the Society’s annual meeting
- Recognition through The Physiologist Magazine and APS social media channels
- APS polo shirt

Advocate Level | $5,000
- Invitation to the APS President’s Reception at the Society’s annual meeting
- Recognition through The Physiologist Magazine and APS social media channels
- APS polo shirt

Group or Departmental Gifts
Gifts to the Center for Physiology Education may also be pledged by groups or departments in honor or in remembrance of a mentor or leader who has contributed to the field of physiology education.