Discipline Chair for Cell Biology and Physiology
Edward Via College of Osteopathic Medicine

The Discipline Chair will teach medical students physiology across a two-year preclinical curriculum, conduct research/scholarly activity and provide service to the institution. This position will also coordinate and integrate basic science disciplines together with the Virginia, Auburn and Louisiana campus faculty and ensure that lectures and learning objectives are consistent, as well as provide leadership for the VCOM-Carolinas Research consortium together with the Virginia, Auburn and Louisiana campuses and assist faculty in grant writing efforts to seek extramural funding. Salary is competitive and commensurate with experience. Visit our website for a detailed position description and required job qualifications. (www.vcom.edu) VCOM is an equal opportunity employer. No phone calls, please. Job Types: Full-time, Contract