The Office of Medical Education at the Herbert Wertheim College of Medicine at Florida International University invites applicants for a full-time, non-tenure, Assistant/Associate Professor faculty position. The faculty member will provide instruction in various basic sciences fields including Cellular Biology, Molecular Biology, and Histology, and will serve as a facilitator for small group discussion in case-based learning, problem-based learning, and other small group sessions in periods 1, 2 and 3. In addition, the successful candidate will develop and evaluate learning modules that incorporate technology and simulations for medical education in an integrated curriculum and will serve as Co-Course Director for courses in periods 1 or 2, helping the Course Director with the development and submission of syllabus and exams, as well as organization of the course.

Minimum qualifications include a terminal doctoral degree MD/DO or Ph.D. in basic science disciplines, such as Biomedical Sciences, Anatomy, Pharmacology, Molecular and Cellular Biology, or related field. Flexibility to teach across multiple disciplines, expertise with the use of technology and active learning instruction, and three years of relevant teaching experience are strongly desired.

Qualified candidates are encouraged to apply to Job Opening ID 523553 at facultycareers.fiu.edu and attach a cover letter and curriculum vitae as a single pdf file. Candidates will be requested to provide names and contact information for at least three references (previous supervisors) who will be contacted as determined by the search committee. To receive full consideration, applications and required materials should be received by June 30, 2021. Review will continue until position is filled.
