Assistant Professor of Interdisciplinary Science
Saint Vincent College

Human Anatomy and Physiology – The Saint Vincent College Interdisciplinary Science Department seeks an individual to fill a tenure-track position in Anatomy and Physiology. Competitive candidates will have expertise in one of the following areas: human anatomy, pathophysiology, or exercise physiology. The successful candidate will teach lecture and lab courses for Health Science and Nursing majors in Human Anatomy & Physiology and Pathophysiology. Additional courses or labs in exercise physiology, general biology, healthcare systems, medical terminology, or health science seminars will also be included as needed. To ensure full consideration, a complete application should be received by January 15, 2020. Review of applications will begin on January 16, 2020 and continue until the position is filled. More information and application guidelines can be found at this site: http://www.stvincent.edu/about/work-for-svc