University of Rhode Island

Assistant Professor – Kinesiology

The Department, College, and University recognize that the field of kinesiology needs to be strengthened by contributions from a broad range of perspectives. The Department of Kinesiology is committed to diversity, equity, and inclusion and seeks to serve as a representative inspiration for the next generations. As such, we particularly welcome candidates from groups that are historically underrepresented, marginalized, and/or excluded in the field of kinesiology who will support the mission of both URI and the Department of Kinesiology to expose students to different perspectives. Candidates will demonstrate a commitment to inclusivity to enhance a sense of belonging and academic success among undergraduate students from diverse cultures and backgrounds.

URI’s Department of Kinesiology (https://web.uri.edu/kinesiology) has a robust undergraduate program (~600 undergraduate students) and a growing graduate program [~25 Master’s and Ph.D. students (https://web.uri.edu/chs/academics/phd-in-health-sciences/)]. The Department is housed within the College of Health Sciences (https://web.uri.edu/chs), which is a member of the University’s Academic Health Collaborative (https://web.uri.edu/ahc).

This position will have a balanced emphasis on teaching and research. The successful candidate will have the ability to establish an independent line of research emphasizing cardiovascular and/or exercise physiology, cardiopulmonary rehabilitation, or other relevant areas of cardiac exercise physiology. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate kinesiology classes, utilizing innovative pedagogical approaches and advise undergraduate and graduate students. The successful candidate will also be expected to engage and mentor a diverse undergraduate and graduate student body in research, service and experiential learning activities that contribute to student success.

For complete details, including required and preferred qualifications, and the application process itself, please visit the URI jobs website at https://jobs.uri.edu to apply for job posting (F00273).

The search will remain open until the position is filled. First consideration will be given to applications received by November 19, 2021.

APPLICATIONS MUST BE SUBMITTED ONLINE ONLY.

The University of Rhode Island is an AA/EEOD employer. Women, persons of color, protected veterans, individuals with disabilities, and members of other protected groups are encouraged to apply.