

Your Institution Here

APS Engagement Report

Join your colleagues today at your institution who are actively engaged as APS members — working to answer the questions facing us in our understanding of life, health and disease.

Current APS members at your institution today 18

Institution activity:

publish in APS journals	67 manuscripts published*
receive APS awards and fellowships	31 awards received
hold Society leadership roles	9 leadership positions
attend meetings, conferences and webinars	33 attended events
donate to advance physiology	34 generous donations

Areas of expertise and members represented:

Cardiovascular	1	Environmental & Exercise Physiology	3
Cell & Molecular Physiology	1	Neural Control & Autonomic Regulation	1
Comparative & Evolutionary Physiology	4	Teaching of Physiology	3
Endocrinology & Metabolism	3	Water & Electrolyte Homeostasis	2

Your colleagues who are already APS members:

Abigail Tran Colburn	Christos S Katsanos	Glenn A Gaesser	Karen Leanna Sweazea	Stav Talal
Alex Mohr	Dakota Hohenwarter	Jodi D Stookey	Marco Santello	Stavros A Kavouras
Anthony Joseph Basile	Dalya Lateef	Jon F Harrison	Meredith Grace Johnson
Carly Busch	Erika Nadile	Jon-Philippe K Hyatt	Shannon L Wilson

Join your colleagues at your institution and enhance your professional career through your APS membership — the preeminent scientific society for physiological research, education and collaboration.

physiology.org/join

Questions about this APS Engagement Report or APS membership? Please contact members@physiology.org or call 301.634.7171.

Manuscript data includes member and nonmember accepted articles for the past 10 years.*

All other data is as of 10.1.21 and includes captured details of active and grace members captured in our system.

Not all members from institution affiliated campuses/branches may be included in this report. APS institutional engagement reports are constantly being updated and improved upon.